L: The same God who said, "Let light shine out of darkness," has shone in our hearts to give us knowledge.

P: When a creative word or vision is rare, God speaks nonetheless.

L: When words become law, yet fail to feed and heal, the word made flesh risks action.

P: May word and words empower us this hour.

L: Let us worship God.

Celebration of Holy Communion

Christ be with you.

And also with you.

Lift up your hearts.

We lift them up to God.

Let us give our thanks to the Holy Spirit.

It is right to give our thanks and praise.

It is right, and a good and joyful thing, always and everywhere to give thanks to you, Almighty God, creator of heaven and earth. At creation, you spoke and the earth was formed, your voice thundering over the waters—separating earth from sky and shaking the trees into existence. From ancient time, the heavens have praised you, proclaiming your mighty presence and your glorious strength. And so, with your creatures on earth and all the heavenly chorus, we praise your name and join their unending hymn, saying:

Hosanna in the highest. Blessed is the one who comes in your holy name. Hosanna in the highest.

Holy are you, and holy is your child, Jesus Christ, who spoke wisdom to late-night visitors and outcast women, and who offered forgiveness to tax collectors, centurions, traitors, and even to modern-day sinners, that we might become your children: sisters and brothers of Christ Jesus, one family in your holy name. As children of your Holy Spirit, called by Christ Jesus, we come to your table and remember that on the night before his death, Jesus took bread gave thanks to you, broke the bread, gave it to the disciples, saying: "Take, eat; this is my body which is given for you. Do this in remembrance of me." When the supper was over, Jesus took the cup, gave thanks to you, gave it to the disciples, saying: "Drink from this, all of you; this is my life in the new covenant, poured out for you and for many for the forgiveness of sins. Do this, as often as you drink it, in
